

April 3rd, 2010 4:35 am ET

Chill, oh great and worried Internet. I'm a Scientologist and I know three or four former Scientologists. I'm in sometimes-phone, occasional face-to-face, most-often email contact with them. It's all good. No one cares, checks, asks, or gives a hoot.

Anyone's assertions to the contrary are either ignorance talking its fool head off, or purposeful falsehoods. Too many people LOVE to believe the most negative news about anyone or anything. But I know this as fact because I am now living these facts.

J.V.